Almond wood was selected as the primary material of the collection for its natural beauty and distinctive qualities. It is among the first trees to bloom in spring, symbolizing a new beginning.

Its wood is characterized by warm tones, unique grain patterns, and high density, making it both highly durable and pleasant to the touch. Its natural hardness and organic texture make it ideal for creating objects that combine functionality, aesthetics, and timelessness, with exceptional resistance to the passage of time.

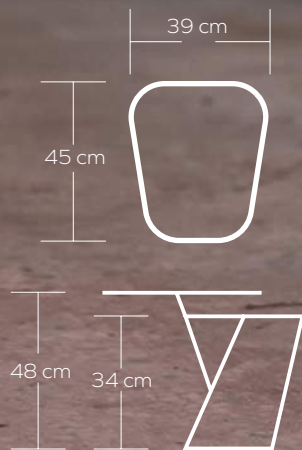

“Almond White – The First Edition by bouf studio” is the first collection of objects crafted from almond wood and white resin.

The collection includes three side tables, a bench, a lighting piece, a vase, a tray, and four small plates—forming a cohesive aesthetic proposal defined by high quality and functionality.
